Final Plans For Christmas Dance

Liz Szelestey, chairman of the Student Council social committee said a good way to lose the "exam jitters" is to loosen up at the Council's Christmas Party, planned for the evening of Dec. 16.

Liz promises that Immaculate Conception Hall, at the corner of 148th and Olcott, East Chicago, will be adorned with decorations appropriate for the occasion.

The dance will last four hours, from 8 p.m. to midnight. Entertainment will consist of dancing, several student acts, selections by the Girls Choral group and community singing of many favorite Christmas carols. Al Burkett, who is known throughout the area for his talents on the accordion, will play for his fellow students. Ted Mason, the soloist for the Christmas radio programs sponsored by the Center, will offer a few selections. Al and Ted may combine their efforts for a piano act. Father Smolar, C. P.P. S., Dean of Students, will provide a tape recording of top hits so the students can dance to them.

The committee promises a few surprises. They urge all to attend.

Liz suggested that gifts for the grab-bag be anything worth 25 to 50 cents. All guests will be required to bring some sort of nonsensical object, or else contribute 25 cents for the "kitty" to defray expenses.

Phil Seroczynski, President of the Student Council, has this to say about the evening. "This party will be the last Student Council-sponsored project offered for this semester. The Council members wish to extend a joyous Christmas to each and every student. This dance is the way in which we are doing it. There will be no admission fee. So, come one, come all, and spend an evening with the St. Joe family in celebrating Christmas."

A Christmas Novena

by Jim Repko

As Marty is approaching the end of his first semester in college,

Christmas, with all its joyous splendor, is only two weeks away.

His midterm grades were rather low, and his finals are this week.

Reviewing his notes, he wonders what language they are written in.

Islamic sculpture looks similar to his diagram of the amoeba.

Sighing, he lays his notes aside and wishes someone would help him.

Two days ago he broke up with his girl and can't get her out of his mind.

Marty doesn't have a job and knows that no one will receive gifts from him.

All these problems make him wonder whether he'll ever finish college.

Seeing no solution for his problems, he doesn't know where to turn.

Now a Christmas Novena seems to be the solution for Marty's problems.

Our Blessed Lord is willing to help us if we will only ask him.

Visit your church for novena services and pray for guidance.

Each and every problem will be solved for such a little price.

Now would be an extra special time to start a novena.

And can you think of a nicer gift to give a loved one this Christmas.

Father Martin's Christmas Message

Dear Friends of Saint Joseph's,

It is the fashion, nowadays, for men to complain bitterly about the sad condition of the human race. Some even like to insist that Christianity has failed, because misguided men continue to oppress their fellow-men, powerful but God-less men continue to overpower and subjugate the weak.

And yet, in a world which for more than nineteen hundred years has felt the warmth and love brought down to earth through the coming of Christ, it is impossible for us to imagine how cold and drab everything might be, were there no Christmas. Never having known a Christ-less world, we cannot possibly appreciate how much Christ does for each of us—how much better are the good, how much less evil the wicked, because the Word was made Flesh! In those hearts which find room for Him, Christ does give Himself, and thus begins the chain reaction which can still save the world.

On Christmas morning, may the Infant Christ enter into your heart and dwell there throughout the coming year.

Very sincerely yours,

Henry J. Martin

Director and Dean

Council Pres. Greets Students

Dear Students:

The semester has slipped by with unbelievable speed. As we take a look back at the beginning we find many successful activities that we enjoyed and will never forget.

Naturally, there were mistakes sprinkled here and there that we would like to forget. However, we must not do this until we have benefited by them. I speak for the entire Student Council when I say that we have learned a lot.

The plans for next semester are bigger and better than ever. We are all well acquainted with one another and also with the obstacles that will block our path to success. These obstacles shall be met and overcome, with a unified effort that I believe is now within our grasp.

When we look at the many problems that we have already faced I cannot help but say that the cooperation has been commendable. I want to thank you for everything that makes my job gratifying.

In closing may I wish you all the greatest success in your endeavors to come. May yours be a peaceful Christmas and a blessed New Year.

Phil Serozynski,

Commerce Club Hears Mr. Irving Lewin Speak On 'Political Businessman'

by Walter Keilman

On Wed., Dec. 6, the Commerce Club held its final meeting of the present semester. It was decided at this meeting that the planned trip to Chicago to the Chicago Black Hawk hockey game has been cancelled until next semester. But those who have signed up for the game will be able to get tickets for the game through the club if they wish to. But the trip will not be sponsored by the club.

The books which the club purchased for the school library have finally arrived. They will officially be presented to the library Friday, Dec. 15. The titles of the books are the Machinists, by Mark Perlman and New Frontiers for Professional Management, by Ralph J. Cordiner.

The club also had a guest speaker, Mr. Irving L. Lewin, who is a member of the advisory board of Lay Trustees of the school, a civic leader extraordinary and teaches marketing at our campus. His talk was devoted to the "social responsibilities of business."

In his talk he hit many high points about our way of life. The free enterprise system is our way of life. "Through this system America has become a world leader and through this system we will stay a world leader. It has given us liberties in abundance. We have religious, business, and moral freedoms through it. Business today tends to be too interested in making a dollar, rather than in bettering our society."

Businessmen must enter politics. The government is the biggest business and its regulates all business. Those who are entering politics are strictly "politicians." Therefore business is being run by "politicians" rather than by businessmen and other responsible leaders, he said.

The only way America is to survive is to bring morality in business and government. Community morality is failing. Businessmen must get into community affairs and the government.

Today the moral side of business isn't stressed enough.

"I fully believe the free-enterprise system is the best system," was stated by Mr. Lewin several times. He also added, "that one must be moral in order for it to succeed."

Freshmen Give Thanks To Donators

On November 25, the freshman class sponsored a hayride and barn dance at Feddeler's Farm in Lowell. Scott Boyett explained that much of the success of this first freshman project was due to the individual contributions of various people and concerns. Donations from local consumers were obtained by those super-market stoppers, Vice-President Tom Keen and Committeeman Fred Green. In Munster, Burger's donated coffee and Food Fair supplied napkins. Hammond's A&P contributed paper plates and the Jewel food store also donated napkins. In addition to these food shops, the freshman class officers would especially like to express their gratitude to the Feddeler's for their matchless hospitality. Special recognition goes to Roberta Gabrys' mother, who willingly cooked the 20 pounds of "Sloppy Joes." Thanks are in order for the combined efforts of Mr. Louis E. Keen, Sr., who furnished a portable heater and tables; Mr. Fred Green, Sr., a loud speaker and kitchen ovens; and Bruce Companik who taped the music that was played at the dance. Without the full co-operation of these people, the Hayride might not have been so profitable. The freshman officers are looking forward to an even greater enthusiasm and student participation in their future projects.

LOVE Engaged . . .

by FRANCIS J. KRANE

Oh, love be mine! I pray each night
They dream a dream of awful flight
From heaven's gate to hell's own door,

But wake do I to pray still more.
The sinful world, that angry sea,
Engulfs the mind and hides the key.
This human flesh my soul does cheat
From learning love at God's own feet.

Then Satan gives a goddess fair
To blind and fill with pleasures rare.

Alas, alas within this life
We gain, maintain true love through strife.

O Wisdom, that proceedest from the mouth of the Most High, reaching from end to end, mightily and sweetly disposing all things: come to teach us the way of prudence.

Mary Lou Kent, a junior at St. Joseph's College, and Louis Keen also a junior recently became engaged. Mary Lou is a 1959 alumna of Hammond High School. She attended Rosary College in Illinois from 1959 till 1961. Miss Kent is majoring in elementary education.

Louis Keen obtained his high school diploma from Prairie Du Chien Jesuit High School. He then went on to Marquette University until 1960. Louis is presently employed at the Keen Foundry in Griffith.

The couple are planning an early summer wedding to take place at their parish, St. Thomas More in Munster.

O King of Nations, and their desired one, and the corner-stone, thou makest both one: come, and save man, whom thou didst form out of slime.

Soph. Class Donates To Charitable Cause

The Sophomore Class officers met on Tues., Dec. 5, for an emergency meeting.

The main purpose of the meeting was to decide upon a suggested donation to the East Chicago Christmas Giving Program. The decision was favorable. Treasurer, Chris Chandler will mail the money order next week. Joe Modjeski, president, explained that this donation will pay for a Christmas basket of food to be given to some needy family. This donation will be the Soph. Class project for December.

Secretary, Liz Szelesty, made a motion that the officers formulate a code of purposes and goals to be followed by present officers next semester and all future officers. The motion was seconded by Dan Lowry, vice president, and then passed. No specific date was set for the formation of this code, but it will be ready for the winter semester.

An open meeting for all sophs will be held at the beginning of the second term.

STRIKES & SPARES

As St. Joe's bowling league wound up its first semester of bowling the Alley Wreckers headed the pack by dropping the Maple Maulers three games in a first place battle. The Alley Angels moved into second place and the Maulers dropped into a fourth place tie with the Ten Pins. The Pin Tumblers took three frames from the Gutter Dusters breaking a tie with them for the last spot.

Paul Mika took honors for high game when he rolled his first 200 game of the year (203). Closely behind him was Wally Olesek who rolled an even 200. But for high series Wally took first with a 491 series while Paul has a 483 series.

Judy Kantz and Kathy Kruhah-tred tied for high game with 127 each for the "prett set."

But Judy had high series with 367 and Kathy had a 341 series.

Bowling will resume again Jan. 14, 1962. All who have finished this semester deserve to be congratulated. Every league record fell this past semester.

When the league resumes competition, we wish to encourage newcomers to add to the league membership. We are eager to expand our league.

We also wish to encourage all those who would like to be substitute bowlers.

There will be election of officers at this first meeting.

Bowl Games Called

by WALLY KEILMAN
Football game predictions for New Year's Day!

ROSE BOWL Minnesota vs. UCLA

The Golden Gophers have, I believe, learned their lesson in past bowl experiences, of being over-confident. I believe they have the horses to defeat the Bruins of UCLA.

COTTON BOWL Texas vs. Mississippi

This should be one of the best of the post-season playoffs. The Longhorns, being defeated only once this season and Ole Miss., who has also enjoyed a great season, should engage in quite a battle. But the Texans being on their home soil should take this squeaker.

SUGAR BOWL Arkansas vs. Alabama

'Bama, rated number one in the country by all the polls, better beware of the Razorbacks. There is a tendency for the number one team in the country to become over-confident. 'Bama will be a heavy favorite but it will be close. The Razorbacks have a definite chance here for an upset victory.

ORANGE BOWL LSU vs. Colorado

LSU should win this game with unexpected ease. They have steadily improved throughout the season and this post-season game should be a fitting climax to a very impressive season. Colorado has been ranked high all season but on occasion has had a letdown and I believe they will have such a letdown New Year's Day.

League Breaks For Holidays

The Intramural basketball league is coming along fairly well despite recent setbacks. At the present time no games have been played due to a mixup in the schedule. Also, there has been a misunderstanding concerning the use of Immaculate Conception's gym and the time at which the games were scheduled. Father Smolar said that no games will be played during the semester break, but says that he is hopeful a new schedule can be arranged which will begin next semester. Fr. Smolar also expressed the desire to take the top team or top players from the Calumet Center to Rensselaer to play their top team, or possibly take them around to compete with top teams from the other local extensions.

Christmas Party To Be Held For Bowling Club

The Bowling Club wishes to announce that it has arrived at a definite date for its party. It will be held Friday, December 22. The party is entirely free of charge. It will be held at Mary Strycula's home at 634 Mackinaw Ave., Calumet City, Ill.

There will be dancing and refreshments. The party is for members only, but each will be able to bring along one guest. The party will be stag or drag.

Seymour Sez:

Dear Santa:

Gimme money! Just kidding, however, I could use the following things: 1 gift certificate to George's Diner good for 100 cups of coffee, six dozen term papers, preferably A papers because you can usually get a B on them the second time around, a textbook with more pictures and less words, etc. It's fun to joke like this, but before we go any further, let me wish you all a wonderful Christmas and a New Year filled with fun and success.

Bob Trgovich will play Santa Claus for the Ed-Mar Food Store. Can't you just imagine the requests he will be getting, "I would like a box of brand X and a pound of the high-priced spread.

The pressure is really on now with finals looming on the horizon. However, when we are through with them we can relax at the, up and coming, Christmas party. Great pains have been taken in its preparation and I think you will enjoy it very much.

Congratulations! Ben Bubala, Louis Keen, and Mary Lou Kent have joined the ranks of the engaged.

The Seymour Doolittle, Policeman of the Year Award, goes to Phil Centrachio, the "Mike Hammer" of Chicago. The award will be presented in Denver, Colorado.

Let's start thinking about the St. Joe vs. Ill. Wesleyan game sponsored by our Student Council and Parents Club for the benefit of the "March of Dimes." The price of a ticket will be $1, a very small amount that will bring happiness and health to some little boy or girl. Wouldn't it be wonderful if the "March of Dimes" could go out of existence . . . for the lack of a disease to conquer? Let's pack that gym for the kid's that couldn't be there.

If you see a pair of waving arms outside your class door, most likely it is Mary Stokes giving some message.

Well must leave for now; see you under the mistletoe!

St. Joe's Student Teacher

Spotlighted this week in SHAVINGS is student teacher, Margaret Patterson of Gary. Margaret fulfilled her teaching requirement at the Daniel Hale Williams Elementary School in Gary, under the guidance of Mrs. Vaddie Wilson, who, as Margaret said, is a "most wonderful person, for she can criticize in such a way that it makes you feel as though it is just a helpful hint."

Margaret, who has been a lifelong resident of Gary, graduated from Roosevelt High School. After receiving her diploma, she decided to fulfill her lifelong goal, that of being a teacher. Indiana State Teachers College in Terre Haute, Indiana, was the site of learning for Margaret. After a few years at Indiana State she transferred to Roosevelt College in Chicago; it was from there that she graduated with a degree in English and Education.

Margaret, who is married to Cardovus Patterson, has three children, Cardovus Jr. 11, Annette 10, and Iris 3.

When asked, "What made you decide to become a teacher?" Margaret replied, "As far back as I can remember I have always wanted to teach. Possibly this is due to the fact that my mother taught school. However, I feel that teaching is one job from which much personal satisfaction is gained."

When asked what she considered to be a good teacher, Mrs. Patterson had this to say, "I feel the only way a teacher can be classified as being a good teacher is if she at all times takes into consideration the individual differences of the children she is teaching."

As for her future plans nothing is definite. However, Mrs. Patterson would like to teach in the Gary school system.

O key of David, and scepter of the house of Israel: who openest, and no man shutteth; who shuttest, and no man openeth: come, and lead the captive from prison, sitting in darkness, and in the shadow of death.

Giving at Christmas

by Francis J. Krane

Downtown is like this every Christmas shopping season. People, people—everywhere—crossing the streets, hurrying along the sidewalk, lingering in front of display windows, pushing through revolving doors, patiently waiting for the escalator to reach the next floor, and finally paying the sales clerk five dollars for Dad's shirt or Mom's gloves or Sis' sweater.

Everyone is buying Christmas presents—for the family, for relatives and for friends. What is all this hustle and bustle in buying presents for two, five, or ten people to whom we are related or with whom we are friends? We do not buy presents for our relatives and friends at Thanksgiving or Easter. Why at Christmas?

The Bible tells us of the Three Wise Men from the East who brought gold, frankincense, and myrrh as presents for the Child Jesus. These gifts were expressions of love and adoration on the part of the Wise Men. This was their way of saying, "Praise be the Child Jesus!"

Today we also give gifts to celebrate the birth of Jesus. However, we have the custom of giving not directly but indirectly to the Divine Child. We do this through our friends and relatives.

God is present everywhere, but he lives in a special way in all the souls who are in the state of grace. With Christ living in his soul, each neighbor then is a representative of Christ. "Whatsoever you do unto the least of my brethren, you do unto Me."

So this Christmas when exchanging presents, keep the Child Jesus in mind. And I do not think the Little Babe would object if you gave Him something directly, namely, your heart.

LIZ SZELESTY, Chairman of Student Council's Social Committee, is shown posting an advertisement with Non Yatsko. They both hope all students will attend.

THESE TWO GIRLS were caught cramming for the finals, that is now upon us. Well, Margaret, back to work. Shown with Margaret Frechette is Irene Beres.
